A LONG TRADITION IN WEALTH MANAGING...

Founded as a Roman military colony about the 1st century b.c., along its thousand-year-old history, Florence has been a republic, the seat of the duchy of Tuscany, and the capital of Italy (1865-1870).

Birthplace of men of letters, painters, architects, and craftsmen such as Dante Alighieri, Giotto, Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, Machiavelli, Galileo just to name a few, Florence is mostly remembered as the cradle of the Renaissance, when the city has achieved preeminence not only in arts but also in commerce and finance.

Its importance as a trading center on the route from Rome to Venice as well as its fame for wools brought wealth into the city and led the Medici becoming the most wealthy family in Florence and the most famous bankers of all, who made their fortune by loaning out money at interest all across Europe.

The great history, the magnificence of its buildings and churches, the entire historic city center deemed a UNESCO World Heritage site as well as its romantic hidden spots just waiting to be discovered, make Florence one of the most famous cities in the world and a prime travel destination for millions of tourists coming every year to taste the original Tuscany heritage.

But the charm of the past is not the only driver that carries people to the Tuscan town, which has a long lasting tradition in fashion, being the place where Italian fashion was born and the birthplace of some of the most important designers in the world such as Gucci and Ferragamo. Created in 1972, the Pitti Uomo week is held in Florence twice a year and is recognized as one of the most important platforms for men's clothing and accessory collections.

Nevertheless its beautiful position surrounded by gently rolling hills covered with villas and farms where the Chianina cows are bred and with vineyards and orchards producing the renowned Chianti as well as its proximity to the Tyrrhenian shore are a strong enticement for foreign families, who always more frequently decide to move to Florence.

OUR EXPERIENCE MATTERS

Our fifteen-year old experience in providing legal services both to Italian and foreign families living in our country has taught us that these people need more than a consultation or an advice concerning a single specific issue, perceived as the only important in that moment.

- Modern families need a 360-degree assistance -

Indeed, families that decide to move in our country as well as those who want to leave Italy need to carefully plan their changing and deciding where to live, if to buy or to rent a new house, which school will children attend are just a few of the aspects that should be figured out.

As a matter of fact, there are many other critical issues to face, such as the fiscal implications regarding the members of the family as also the administrative requirements that people should fulfil for themselves (visa, citizenship, municipality accomplishments) or in relation to their real estate properties.

Moreover, it is well-known that families, each one for a different reason and in its peculiar way, need assistance in the everyday life duties.

WE ARE BY YOUR SIDE ALL THE WAY THROUGH

LJ&P FAMILY OFFICE is a dynamic structure which will be the sole reference point for your family.
